Week One 2016
Law in a Global Context
(JANUARY 11-14, 2016)
GEORGETOWN LAW

Overview
1. Week One – an Overview
2. Sections Offered in 2016
3. Lottery Process and Enrollment
4. Q&A
Week One: Law in a Global Context

Goals
- Introduction to issues of international and transnational law
- Working with non-US case law (e.g., statutes, treaties)
- Exposure to important legal skills in a low-stakes environment

Structure/Requirements
- Problem-based simulation
- Lecture and breakout sessions (facilitated by global teaching fellows)
- Individual and team work involved
- 1 credit, pass/fail, mandatory attendance

What students liked best about Week One...

I really appreciated the opportunity to deal with law and argumentation in a semi-realistic and pragmatic way. It was both fun and instructive to try and pull together a cogent argument from facts and law in a short amount of time and in a method similar to how it’s done in the real world.

This was the coolest class ever! Getting to surface from the foundation-y first year courses and put some of our practical understanding of the law to use in simulated “real-life” scenarios was a great way to break up the first year.

I liked that the problem had so many moving pieces and taught us that there is so much to consider when dealing with international issues as opposed to domestic ones.

Unlike regular law school, we acted as lawyers and gained experience which will actually be of use to us after law school. This course was a big talking point for a job interview on Wednesday.

I also very much appreciated the chance to represent a client (albeit a fictitious one). My client’s interests provided a powerful motivator throughout the course.
Sections offered, January 11-14, 2016

Anti-Corruption and International M&A

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Faculty</th>
<th>Class time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cedrone, Michael</td>
<td>9:00 am - 1:00 pm (Mon-Thurs)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>McMahon, Susan</td>
<td>5:45 pm - 9:45 pm (Mon-Thurs)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Extradition, Terrorism, and Abduction

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Faculty</th>
<th>Class time</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kopolow, David</td>
<td>9:00 am - 1:00 pm (Mon-Wed), 11:30 am - 8:00 pm (Thurs)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lederman, Marty</td>
<td>1:30 pm - 5:30 pm (Mon-Wed), 11:30 am - 8:00 pm (Thurs)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rolland, Sonia</td>
<td>1:30 pm - 5:30 pm (Mon-Wed), 11:30 am - 8:00 pm (Thurs)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Lottery Process and Enrollment

1. 140-180 seats available (24-36 students per section)
2. Online lottery form due Friday, October 9th at 5:00 pm
   http://www.law.georgetown.edu/go/weekone
3. Course materials, preparing for the week
4. Dropping (before Week One begins) and withdrawing
5. Waitlisted students
Q&A

Information is available on the Week One webpage:
http://www.law.georgetown.edu/go/weekone

Direct questions to:
• Margaret Gerety – meg239@law.georgetown.edu
• Mariko Cool – coolm@law.georgetown.edu

These slides will be posted on the Week One webpage.