You are cordially invited to:

A Lunch Discussion on Careers in Business and Human Rights

Tuesday, October 25, 2016
Noon – 1:30 p.m.
Georgetown University Law Center
McDonough Hall Room 220

Lunch will be provided

The Georgetown Law Center for the Study of the Legal Profession and the Human Rights Institute are excited to co-host a lunch discussion for students interested in careers that involve working to prevent, mitigate, and provide remedies for adverse human rights impacts of multinational business operations. The discussion, led by Director of the Center for the Study of the Legal Profession, Professor Mitt Regan, will benefit from the participation of a number of prominent practitioners in the field, including:

Margaret Ellen Roggensack
Senior Advisor, Business and Human Rights, International Corporate Accountability Roundtable and Institute for Business and Human Rights; Adjunct Professor, Georgetown Law

Eric R. Biel
Bureau of International Labor Affairs (ILAB), Department of Labor; Adjunct Professor, Georgetown Law

Sarah A. Altschuller
Associate, Foley Hoag LLP; Adjunct Professor, Georgetown Law

Katie Shay
Legal Counsel for Business and Human Rights, Yahoo

In addition to being leaders in the field, Professors Roggensack, Biel, and Altschuller teach a course at Georgetown Law on Human Rights at the Intersection of Trade and Corporate Responsibility, which will be offered during the Spring 2017 semester. For more information about the course, see the online description here.

For additional information about the lunch, please email pwg7@law.georgetown.edu.