Join the Georgetown Law Chapter of

THE INTERNATIONAL MIGRANTS BILL OF RIGHTS (IMBR) INITIATIVE

The IMBR is a dynamic blueprint for the protection of the human rights of all migrants, regardless of reason for migration. The IMBR draws from various areas of progressive international and regional law to provide a framework of rights that apply to migrants.

We are accepting applications to the IMBR Initiative Georgetown Law Student Chapter for the opportunity to work on research and advocacy on the rights of international migrants, including a potential project on the applicability of the IMBR in the context of the detention of migrants in the Americas. This report will serve as an advocacy tool to collaborate with human rights stakeholders such as the Inter American Commission on Human Rights, UNHCR, and the International Detention Coalition. To apply, please send your resume and a brief statement of interest to the e-mail below.

FIRST MEETING: SEPTEMBER 4, 2014, at 5:45 PM, HOTUNG 5020.
