

Reunion 2006

Alumni from the classes of 1951, 1956, 1961, 1966, 1971, 1976, 1981, 1986, 1991, 1996 and 2001 reunited and reminisced at Georgetown Law over three days during Reunion 2006 last October. Featured on this and following pages are photos capturing some of the fun times from that weekend, which included class dinners and receptions, campus tours, panel discussions and even a performance by a live rock band. Enjoy these and more photos online at the Office of Alumni Affairs' events photo gallery: www.law.georgetown.edu/alumni/photogallery.html.

The Golden Years Luncheon

"We were just out of the service and some of us were just out of bandages," said John Miller (L'48), left, during his turn at the microphone during the annual Golden Years luncheon Friday, October 20, at the Law Center. "The faculty served us well. We were impatient to get into life." Among those joining him at the luncheon were (above, left) Werner Kronstein (C'53, L'56), Hugh Beins (C'53, L'56), Hank Schlosberg (L'56) and James Belson (C'53, L'56, LL.M.'62); the Hon. Alfred Burka (C'48, L'51) and the Hon. Patrick Attridge (L'56) (above, right); Charles Williams (LL.M.'52, S.J.D.'55) and his guest, Helena Day Kirkland (below, left); and James Belson (below, right).

Reunion 2006: The Gala

Saturday night's gala-goers danced to the music of "Deaf Dog and the Indictments," a rock band comprised of seven judges and one psychologist from the District of Columbia Superior Court. There was still plenty of time to socialize in the lobbies of the Law Center's Sport and Fitness Center and Eric E. Hotung International Law Center Building. At right are Linda Glod, Stanley Glod (L'61), the Hon. James Cawood (C'58, L'61) and Katherine Cawood (L'61). Below, members of the class of 1971 are all smiles as they celebrate their 25th anniversary.
