

Bruce Moldow is executive vice president and chief administrative officer for Moss & Associates. Moss was the fastest growing private company in Florida and the second largest construction contractor in the state last year.

1988

Frederick H. Alexander was named a 2007 "Super Lawyer" in Delaware for his work in corporate law and mergers and acquisitions law. He was also cited by the international publisher Chambers & Partners for achieving high standards in "technical legal ability, professional conduct, client service, commercial awareness/astuteness, diligence, commitment, and other qualities most valued by the client." Alexander is a partner at Morris, Nichols, Arsht & Tunnell in Wilmington.

John P. Mandler recently received the 2006 John C. Benson Pro Bono Award from his firm, Faegre & Benson, based on his pro bono representation of low-income and disadvantaged clients in asylum and housing matters. The award is presented annually to an attorney who demonstrates an outstanding commitment to the delivery of pro bono legal service.

Matthew C. Rueter moved to Tanzania in 2006 to establish a rural microfinance bank in the Kilimanjaro region, slated to open for business in January. He has also started a 501(c)(3) organization, registered as an international NGO in Tanzania, focusing on developing drip irrigation conservation farming projects in villages with rain-fed, below-average crop yield; and providing financial management and micro/small business training. "Sure beats writing briefs and fighting every day with other contentious New York litigators," he writes.

1989

Henry Wolfgang Carter, general counsel and chief compliance officer of Global Crown Capital, a San Francisco-based investment firm, was recognized for his significant contribution to financial services compliance and regulation when the compliance team was awarded the fifth annual Achievement in Regulatory Compliance Award from the Compliance Reporter, a publication of Institutional Investor Inc., in March.

Jeffrey C. Rambach (LL.M.) has become a director in Crowe & Dunlevy's Tulsa, Okla., office. Rambach's practice focuses on taxation, trusts and estates, mergers and acquisitions, probate, tax litigation and tax-exempt organizations.

David E. Rogers (LL.M.) has been named co-partner-in-charge of the Washington, D.C., office of McDermott, Will &

Emery. Rogers focuses his practice on employee benefits matters and has served as an adjunct professor at Georgetown Law, teaching the graduate seminar class on the Employee Retirement Income Security Act.

Richard Schmalzl testified before a U.S. House of Representatives committee on the impact of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act on small businesses. Schmalzl, who serves as co-chair of the business and financial client service department at Graydon, Head & Ritchey in Cincinnati, was invited to testify because of his extensive experience with many client businesses on Sarbanes-Oxley implementation, corporate governance issues and SEC requirements.

Cozen O'Connor member John R. Washlick (LL.M.) was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of the American Health Lawyers Association in June. He also served as a faculty member at the two-day Health Law Institute sponsored by the Pennsylvania Bar Institute in March, presenting a program titled "Exposing and Examining Vendor Relationships."

Ted Zangari, a partner with the Newark-based Sills Cummis, was installed as chair of the eastern division of the International Council of Shopping Centers at the start of the ICSC's annual convention in Las Vegas. Zangari chairs the redevelopment law and public policy practice groups at Sills Cummis and serves on the firm's executive committee.

1990

Brad Risinger was named to the board of directors of the United Way of North Carolina in April. In his new role, Risinger will support the United Way 2-1-1 program (a directory assistance link to community and human service resources) and will also support efforts to advance a housing trust fund initiative. Risinger is partner-in-charge of the Raleigh office of Smith Moore, with a practice focused on product liability, antitrust and health care industry issues.

After several years as a mergers and acquisitions lawyer in French law firms, Philippe Thomas (LL.M.) turned to employment law, joining the international firm Lovells in 1997. He became a partner in May 2000 and was recently promoted to local managing partner for the Paris office, where he also has responsibility for the employment practice. Thomas is a regular speaker at the International Bar Association as well as other international conferences. He has written numerous articles for both the general and specialized press.

1991

Lyle D. Larson has been appointed chairman of the Gas and Electricity Marketing Committee of the American Bar Association's Section on Environment, Energy and Resources. He is a partner in the Birmingham office of Balch & Bingham and was included in the 2007 edition of The Best Lawyers in America for his work in energy law.

The New York-based firm of Sutherland Asbill & Brennan has welcomed Diann L. Smith as counsel in its state and local tax group. Smith previously served as general counsel for the Council on State Taxation, a trade association representing approximately 600 of the largest businesses operating in the United States.

1992

Christopher Dolan was recently selected Trial Lawyer of the Year for San Francisco and received a California Lawyer of the Year Award for employment law from California Lawyer. He was also named a "Super Lawyer" for Northern California.

IN MEMORIAM

Orval M. Adam (L'56)

George D. Bruch Sr. (L'41)

Richard C. Casey (L'58)

The Hon. James C. Cawood Jr. (L'61)

Robert S. Clements (L'51)

William J. Gargaro Jr. (C'61, L'64)

John Francis King Sr. (L'52)

Linda Mabry (L'78)

John J. McGovern Sr. (L'54)

Carmen Anthony Miller (L'56)

John P. Murphy (L'42)

James G. Noth (L'48)

Judith Oldham (L'81)

Charles Jay Pilzer (L'52)

Stephen C. Rogers (L'68)

William E. Schuyler (L'40)

Leslie Carl Smith II (LL.M.'95)

Frank Taylor (L'34)

Damon Whitehead (L'95)

Jack William Whitley (LL.M.'93)