I am pleased to report that nearly six thousand alumni, parents and friends contributed to the fund, and we ended the year with a historic high of more than $5 million raised for scholarships, financial aid and essential resources for academic excellence, programs and research. The end of the fiscal year also marked the successful conclusion to our comprehensive campaign, For Generations to Come: The Campaign for Georgetown. The loyal and consistent annual support of our many donors over the course of the campaign provided the essential foundation we needed to realize this terrific achievement.

But we are not done. In fact, it is in our Georgetown ethos to continue to achieve and do more. We owe it to our students, faculty, the people and communities who rely on our services, and to the national and global issues that demand our expertise and action. Your support gives us the ability to recommit ourselves to these purposes—in increasingly diverse, relevant and innovative ways—every year.

It starts with our commitment to make a Georgetown Law education accessible to all admitted students, regardless of financial need, and to arm them with the knowledge and training they need to confidently and successfully enter the workforce. We are making great strides thanks to your support. We are honored when we see the impact of your giving and how it shapes our school and the next generation of students.

Thank you for enriching our community with your financial support, talents, expertise and ideas. We are profoundly grateful.

In FY16, Law Annual Fund dollars provided the spending power roughly equivalent to more than $100M in endowment.

Georgetown Law has invested so much in me. Receiving the Blume Opportunity Scholarship has solidified my decision to come to Georgetown Law and also stirred in me the desire to give back. I am eternally grateful to Georgetown for seeing something in me and providing me with the opportunity to represent the Hoya community—which I proudly do every day.

After returning from a combat deployment to Iraq, I earned my bachelor’s degree on the GI Bill. I am the first in my family to go to college, and thus, the first to attend graduate school. When I applied to law school, I was terrified of a student loan balance greater than the value of the house I grew up in. I am thankful for alumni support because it has helped make my dream of attending Georgetown Law a reality.

When making my law school decision I was torn: I wanted to be in D.C., but struggled with the realities of the high cost of living and tuition. However, when Georgetown Law notified me that I received a scholarship, I immediately emailed my acceptance. The financial aid I received, made possible by alumni philanthropy, means a lot to me because it helps alleviate some of the financial burden.

Cumulatively, Law Loyalty Society members account for more than 45,000 consecutive years of giving.
