With roots that go back to 1890, the Organization of American States (OAS) is a regional body composed of 35 nations committed to the pursuit of hemispheric solidarity in support of democracy, human rights, security, and development. Join Prof. Alvaro Santos, the Director of the Center for the Advancement of the Rule of Law in the Americas (CAROLA), and Prof. Emeritus Joseph Page for a tour of the OAS building, an elegant structure with a tropical patio, marble staircases and monumental halls, and the Art Museum of the Americas, as well as a briefing by OAS officials.

Title of Tour: C&O Canal
Faculty: Professor Hope Babcock, Professor Sara Colangelo
Room Assignment: McDonough 156
Students: 25 Students
Description: Georgetown Law Center offers an extensive curriculum in environmental law. Join our environmental law faculty for a hike and lunch along the C&O Canal north of the city. The professors promise herons, beavers, wetlands, and more, along with a dose of environmental history – mining, quarrying, and canal building – of this special and historical place. This tour is a good opportunity to meet and talk with environmental faculty, get to know your peers in a relaxed way, and just enjoy outdoor DC!

Title of Tour: Mall Jog
Faculty: Professor Robert Thompson, Dean Moulton, Director Maura DeMouy
Room Assignment: McDonough 160
Students: 35 Students
Description: Prof. Thompson, Dean Moulton, and Director DeMouy will lead a jogging tour of the eastern half of the mall and a few adjacent historical/cultural/legal sites followed by a picnic lunch back at the Law Center. This is a great way to see some of the nearby city including former locations of the law school and of the Walker/Thomas Furniture Company, which many of you will soon come to know in contracts. The tour will be 3-4 miles and the group will run at a slow to moderate pace with frequent stops.

Description: Join Professor Sonya Bonneau on a tour of the National Portrait Gallery, where art, law, and history converge in unique and surprising ways. The tour will highlight masterpieces in the National Portrait Gallery’s collection and current exhibitions, including portraiture of Supreme Court justices, U.S. presidents, and cultural icons. The tour will be followed by lunch in the NPG’s Courtyard Cafe, under its spectacular glass canopy.

Title of Tour: Newseum
Faculty: Professor Angela Campbell
Room Assignment: McDonough 492
Students: 15 students
Description: Since its opening in 2008, the Newseum has been one of DC’s most popular attractions. The museum features seven levels of galleries focusing on five centuries of news history - all explained through the use of technology and hands-on exhibits. Join Professor Angela Campbell on a tour of the facility, and learn more about how and why the news is made, as well as the important role it plays in all of our lives.

Title of Tour: Youth Services Center Detention Facilities
Faculty: Professor Kristin Henning
Room Assignment: McDonough 109
Students: 15 students
Description: A few high profile crimes by children and a faulty perception of rising juvenile crime have spawned a wave of “get tough” policies designed to increase the transfer of juveniles to adult prisons, erode confidentiality of juvenile court hearings and punish parents for poor supervision. Society’s historical commitment to the rehabilitation of young offenders is gradually giving way to theories of retribution, punishment and deterrence. As the District of Columbia arrives at the crossroads of modern juvenile justice policy, only time will tell how city leaders will respond. In the spring of 2005, the Department of Youth Rehabilitation Services opened a new juvenile detention center in Northeast Washington to improve conditions of confinement and provide youth with greater access to treatment within the city limits. On this tour, Prof. Henning, who co-directs the Juvenile Justice Clinic, will escort students to the new Youth

Title of Tour: Jewish Historical Tour
Faculty: Michael Goldman
Room Assignment: McDonough 347
Students: 15 students
Description: The oldest surviving synagogue building in Washington, constructed in 1876, is located directly across the highway from the Law Center. Visit this site, then stroll to three nearby buildings that were constructed by Jewish congregations -- one reform, one conservative, and one orthodox -- around the turn of the twentieth century. Two of these building are now churches. The third was a church until recently when it was purchased by philanthropists, remodeled to a style that largely but not entirely returns the building to its original appearance, and transferred to a foundation for use by all members of the DC Jewish community.

Title of Tour: National Museum of African-American History & Culture
Faculty: Dean William Treanor, Professor Anthony Cook, and Professor Sheryll Cashin
Room Assignment: McDonough 201
Students: 35 students
Description: Join Dean Treanor, Professor Cook, and Professor Cashin on a self-guided tour of the National Museum of African American History and Culture, which is the first and only museum devoted exclusively to African American life, history, and culture. The museum was established by an Act of Congress in 2003, and it took over 13 years to open. The museum holds more than 36,000 artifacts, including a Portuguese slave ship, Harriett Tubman’s shawl and hymnal, and the coffin of Emmett Till.
Title of Tour: Capitol Hill Historic Biking Tour
Faculty: Professor Peter Byrne and Professor Gregory Klass
Room Assignment: McDonough 202
Students: 15 students
Description: Capitol Hill is a remarkably intact and lively row-house neighborhood, largely built in the decades after the Civil War. Its beauty, struggles, and urban success reveal much about the history of Washington, DC and about modern historic preservation laws. Join Prof. Peter Byrne, a long-time resident of the neighborhood and expert in historic preservation law, for an overview of the urban development of Washington, a biking tour through some of Capitol Hill’s most interesting streets, and a discussion about the role of law in urban regeneration and neighborhood schools. The walking tour will end with lunch at historic and recently restored Eastern Market.
