Re: Faculty Workshop Paper

| Dear Readers:

Attached is the draft of my faculty workshop paper for November 6. Those of you who are familiar with the bulk of my work – in constitutional law, centered on issues of sexuality and gender – may be somewhat surprised to see a paper analyzing governance in the health care system. For the last several years, I have been publishing work in health law, seeking to integrate into that field some of the perspectives that I developed while thinking about how power circulates (in both legal and extra-legal discourses) in the regulation of bodies and identities. My agenda is to continue writing in both fields.

If the length of the paper seems daunting, my suggestion is that you skip pages 47-64. (Apologies in advance for the state of the footnotes.)

I look forward to your questions and comments.

Nan
