

Academy of WTO Law & Policy

Admission Requirements

Space is limited. This program is designed primarily for professionals already possessing a basic background in WTO and GATT matters. However, those who are new to the subject of WTO Law & Policy are welcome to attend, and introductory readings may be recommended to them prior to arrival on campus. A law degree is not necessary to participate.

Language. The language of instruction is English, though Academy participants hail from around the globe. Participants are expected to have significant ability to read, speak and understand English.

Visas. If you will require a visa to attend the program, please note that it is your responsibility to obtain the visa and to allow sufficient time to process all requisite paperwork. International registrants are encouraged to contact Georgetown Law for information on potentially applicable visa requirements. Visa-related queries may be directed to Indira Dingedine at img4@law.georgetown.edu.