

CORPORATE COMPLIANCE: THE ROLE OF COMPANY COUNSEL

Georgetown University Law Center
October 4, 2007

Sponsored by
Georgetown Journal of Legal Ethics
Georgetown Center for the Study of the Legal Profession

8:30-9:00 am Continental Breakfast

9:00-9:15 am Introductory Remarks

Professor Milton C. Regan, Jr., Georgetown Law Center
Frederick J. Krebs, President, Association of Corporate Counsel

9:15-10:45 am Panel 1: Conflicting Duties: Lessons from the KPMG Prosecution

Presentation: Professor Sarah Duggin, Catholic University Law School, former general counsel Amtrak and University of Pennsylvania Health System

Mary Kennard, General Counsel, American University
Sol Glasner, General Counsel, MITRE Corporation
Richard Janis, Janis, Schuelke & Wechsler
Irv Nathan, Arnold & Porter

Professor Duggin's presentation will use the KPMG case and other recent developments to focus on the structural problems corporate counsel face in attempting to represent the interests of the entity without dealing unfairly with its employees. She will suggest that the legal profession itself has both an opportunity and an obligation to develop ethical solutions to these challenges.

11:00am-12:30 pm Panel 2: Gatekeepers Inside Out

Presentation: Professor Sung Hui Kim, Southwestern Law School, former General Counsel, Red Bull

Carol Rakatansky, Associate General Counsel, Sallie Mae
Robert Lupone, General Counsel, Siemens
Ann Kappler, Partner, WilmerHale, former General Counsel,
Fannie Mae

Professor Kim's presentation will draw on cognitive and behavioral psychology, as well her own practice experience, to explore the respective capacities of inside and outside counsel to play a gatekeeping role with regard to corporate activity.

12:30–1:45 pm

Lunch (registration necessary)

2:00-3:30 pm
Compliance

Panel 3: Corporate In-House Counsel in the Age of Internal

Presentation: Professor Tanina Rostain, New York Law School,
Co-Director, Program on Professional Values and Practice

Kathy Barlow, Vice President & Assistant General Counsel, Marsh
USA

Ann Straw, Director, Corporate Compliance, Laidlaw International
Scott Killingsworth, Powell Goldstein

Professor Rostain's presentation will describe the results of her empirical survey of in-house counsel on how their roles are evolving in response to increasingly systematic and complex corporate internal compliance programs.