PROFESSOR RANDY BARNETT
GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY LAW CENTER

Randy E. Barnett is the Carmack Waterhouse Professor of Legal Theory at the Georgetown University Law Center, where he teaches constitutional law and contracts. After graduating from Northwestern University and Harvard Law School, he tried many felony cases as a prosecutor in the Cook County States' Attorney's Office in Chicago. He has been a visiting professor at Northwestern and Harvard Law School. In 2008, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in Constitutional Studies. Professor Barnett's publications include more than one hundred articles and reviews, as well as nine books. In 2004, Professor Barnett argued the medical marijuana case of Gonzalez v. Raich before the U.S. Supreme Court. He delivered the Kobe 2000 lectures in jurisprudence at the University of Tokyo and Doshisha University in Kyoto. He is frequently a guest on such programs as the CBS Evening News, The NBC Nightly News, The Glenn Beck Show (FNC), Parker Spitzer (CNN), and the Ricki Lake Show. His opinion pieces appear regularly in such publications as The Wall Street Journal.

Professor Barnett is widely regarded as an expert on the constitutionality of the individual mandate to purchase health insurance. He has published extensively on this issue, including "Commandeering the People: Why the Individual Health Insurance Mandate is Unconstitutional" in the New York University Journal of Law & Liberty, "Turning Citizens into Subjects: Why the Health Insurance Mandate is Unconstitutional" in the Mercer Law Review, "Why the Personal Mandate to Buy Health Insurance is Unprecedented and Unconstitutional" for the Heritage Foundation, and opinion pieces in The Washington Post, and The Wall Street Journal. Professor Barnett also presented on the constitutionality of the individual mandate before the House Committee on the Judiciary.
