

Office of Administration
Executive Office of the President
Office of the General Counsel
Spring 2006, Law Student Intern Program

The Office of Administration, Executive Office of the President, Office of the General Counsel (OGC), seeks qualified law students to assist in providing legal counsel to offices that serve the President of the United States.

Students selected for this program will have a unique opportunity to garner insights into the practice of law at the highest levels of the United States government. Prior interns have worked on a wide range of challenging, substantive matters, including employment, appropriations, financial management, government contracts, ethics, records management, and information disclosure law.

Additionally, OGC's "small firm" environment provides law student interns with the opportunity to work closely with senior attorneys, gain practical legal experience, and network with other up-and-coming members of the legal profession.

To apply, please fax a cover letter, resume, transcript, writing sample, and list of references to:

Rachael Leonard
Associate General Counsel
Office of the General Counsel
Office of Administration
Executive Office of the President
Fax: (202) 456-7921
Phone: (202) 395-2273

During the school year 2006-2007, the General Counsel is most interested in second and third year J.D. candidates, as well as LL.M. candidates. During the summer of 2007, the General Counsel is interested in second year students. U.S. citizenship is required. Selected candidates must pass a law enforcement background investigation and drug test. All internships are uncompensated and may last no more than 90 days.