

Please join us for the
2013 Samuel Dash Conference on Human Rights
Monday, April 8, 2013
Gewirz Student Center, 12th floor

JURISDICTION FOR MASS ATROCITIES

9:30-9:35: Welcome

- William Treanor, Executive Vice President and Dean, Georgetown Law

9:35-10:05: Panel 1: Suing Sudan: A Case Study

- James Bair, Adjunct Professor of Law, Georgetown Law; Attorney, Brown Rudnick LLP
- LÍadan Donnelly, Georgetown Law class of 2014
- Andrew Mosher, Georgetown Law class of 2014
- Nina Sudhakar, Georgetown Law class of 2013

10:05-11:15: Panel 2: Thinking Outside the Box: What Tools Can and Should States Use to Fight Impunity for Mass Atrocities

- Sadia Hameed, Director, Crimes Against Humanity Program, Human Rights First
- Victoria Holt, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Bureau of International Organization Affairs, U.S. Department of State
- Paul Williams, Rebecca I. Grazier Professor of Law & International Relations, American University; President and Co-Founder, Public International Law & Policy Group
- Rosa Brooks, Professor of Law, Georgetown Law (moderator)

11:15-12:25: Panel 3: The International Criminal Court and the Dynamics of Complementarity

- Elena Baylis, Associate Professor, University of Pittsburgh Law School, Washington Center
- Christine Alai, Former Acting Head, International Center for Transitional Justice Kenya Office; Leadership and Advocacy for Women Fellow, Georgetown Law
- Susana SáCouto, Professorial Lecturer-in-Residence, Director, War Crimes Research Office, American University Washington College of Law
- Jane Stromseth, Professor of Law, Georgetown Law (moderator)

12:25-1:30: Lunch and Keynote Discussion

- Luis Moreno Ocampo, Former Chief Prosecutor, International Criminal Court
- John Bellinger, Partner, Arnold & Porter LLP and Former Legal Adviser to the Department of State, 2005-2009
- Julie O'Sullivan, Professor of Law, Georgetown Law (moderator)

1:30-2:00: Coffee Reception

To RSVP or for further information, please email pds42@law.georgetown.edu. Drop-ins also welcome.