

The Institute for Constitutional Advocacy and Protection (ICAP) is a nonpartisan, public interest litigation center housed at Georgetown Law. ICAP's mission is to defend constitutional rights and democratic processes through strategic litigation, policy development, and public education. ICAP's recent work includes safeguarding rights to free expression, assembly, and democratic participation; combating threats from unlawful private militias and political violence; fighting the criminalization of poverty and other forms of criminal legal system overreach; and defending the rights of young people and marginalized communities.

ICAP seeks to hire a Senior Counsel for a full-time, hybrid position located in Washington, DC. The Senior Counsel's duties include but are not limited to:

- Identifying opportunities and developing strategies for pursuing high-impact litigation
- Engaging in factual development for potential cases, including interacting with clients and witnesses, traveling to gather on-the-ground facts, and acquiring and analyzing data
- Drafting complaints, motions, briefs and other litigation-related documents
- Revising, editing, and providing feedback on draft documents written by other attorneys
- Presenting evidence and oral argument in court at both the trial and appellate level
- Assisting other attorneys in preparing to present evidence and oral argument in court
- Researching and developing policy recommendations adjacent to ICAP's litigation work
- Assisting in presentations to ICAP's practicum students on constitutional impact litigation
- Providing mentorship, feedback, and guidance to practicum students
- Refining legal writing generated by the practicum and incorporating it into briefing associated with ICAP litigation
- Assisting in the design of academic program offerings

Qualifications
