AI & THE LEGAL PROFESSION

STUDENT LUNCH BYTE SERIES

GAILP Student “Lunch Bytes” is a new series hosted by the Georgetown AI and the Legal Profession (GAILP) Initiative — offering informal opportunities for students and community members to learn about the rapidly evolving intersection of law and technology over lunch.

EXPLORING TOMORROW'S LEGAL TECH

Join Faiz Thakur (LLM '24), Growth and Strategy Lead at August AI, for a fireside chat on how artificial intelligence is transforming legal practice.

August AI is an international platform that automates research, drafting, document review, data extraction, and redlining for lawyers.

The discussion will explore real-world applications of legal technology, the ethical and professional implications of AI in law, and pathways for students interested in this rapidly evolving field.
