Overview of Student Organizations

Our 85+ student organizations provide daily opportunities for student engagement and leadership. Our students make a difference on our campus and in the community each year by hosting timely symposia, advocating for student interests, and serving the wider D.C. community. All students can participate in any student organization at Georgetown Law.

Want to host an environmental justice symposium? How about starring in a musical alongside your fellow students and faculty? Do you want to advocate for the immigrant community in D.C.? There are student organizations for all of that!

Organization Categories and Organization Information

Academic and Professional Organizations

Antitrust Law Association (ALA)
The organization’s primary goals are to promote understanding of antitrust law among the students, build a community of young professionals, and help to establish Georgetown Law as a forum of antitrust law and policy discourse. ALA organizes talks and panel discussions with lawyers and economists, academics and practitioners, on current issues in antitrust. Together with the American Bar Association’s Section of Antitrust Law ALA hosts a yearly career event. Guests, antitrust practitioners from the public and private sector, talk about opportunities for law students interested in careers in antitrust.

Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/gulccs/

Environmental Law Society (ELS)
The Georgetown Environmental Law Society (ELS) supports students interested in practicing environmental and energy law. ELS focuses on educating students about career opportunities and facilitating networking opportunities. Our organization connects students with Georgetown Law faculty, alumni, and practitioners while helping students design an interesting and rewarding law school experience. In addition to professional and academic development, ELS facilitates outings such as hikes and other outdoor activities.

Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/gulcenvironmentallawsociety/

Food Law Society (FLS)
The purpose of the Georgetown Food Law Society is to create a community of students, academics, and professionals dedicated to examining and discussing the law as it pertains to food systems, as well as guiding and supporting students interested in careers in food law. Topics of interest include, but are not limited to: food security, food justice, food production, processing, distribution, safety, consumption, and related regulatory issues (e.g., FDA, EPA, USDA, FTC).

Georgetown Art Law Association (GALA)
Georgetown Art Law Association (GALA) is a group of law students interested in the specialized field of art law, which encompasses legal aspects of cultural heritage protection, the art market, museums, and historic preservation. Our mission is to provide a forum at GULC to explore this unique area of law through guest lectures, museum visits, and networking opportunities with practitioners, academics, alumni, and members.

Georgetown Entertainment Media Alliance - Law (GEMALaw)
Founded in 2002, The Georgetown Entertainment & Media Alliance (GEMA) aims to elevate Georgetown’s profile in the entertainment and media community, by strengthening the ties between the University and its alumni and by developing relevant programs and resources for both alumni and current Georgetown students. Comprised of alumni, students, parents and friends affiliated with the media and entertainment industry, GEMA has grown to over 2,000 members representing a diversity of specialties including film, television, theater, publishing, music, sports, journalism, public relations and many other fields in media and entertainment. GEMA’s mission is to:

- Elevate the profile of Georgetown University in the entertainment and media communities
- Foster and support career development for its members and current GU students within the entertainment and media communities
- Facilitate and sustain collegiality among its members and encourage involvement in the life of Georgetown
- Strengthen the ties between the university and its alumni in the entertainment and media communities
- Give back to the community and Georgetown University through philanthropic endeavors related to entertainment, media and the arts.

In recent years, GEMALaw has worked to create and maintain networks with alumni in the sports, entertainment, and media industries through a variety of events. In the 2018-2019 year, our goals were as follows: (1) helping students learn what a career in these industries can look like with the help of fellow students and alumni; (2) familiarizing students with the substance of the law through professor discussions and speakers; and (3) connecting members with opportunities to meet and network with industry professionals, alumni in particular.

Georgetown International Arbitration Society (GIAS)
Established in 2008, Georgetown International Arbitration Society, or GIAS, is a student organization composed of about 750 past and present students of Georgetown University Law Center. The organization’s goal is to promote international arbitration by facilitating discussion about it among students, academics, and practitioners, mainly through organizing events.

Contact Email: lawgias@georgetown.edu
Other Contact Information: Prospective members can reach us via email. Our activities can be followed on our website (www.gias2019.org), Facebook group (www.facebook.com/groups/GeorgetownInternationalArbitrationSociety), and LinkedIn page (www.linkedin.com/company/georgetown-arbitration).

Georgetown International Law Society (GILS)
“International law” is a broad term that envelops many practice areas in both the private and public sector. Georgetown International Law Society’s (GILS) purpose is to help students explore the different avenues they can take in their international legal career and to bring together like-minded students. To that end, GILS works to bring lawyers to campus to speak about their careers in international law and in addition to hosting smaller events for students to learn from each other and to create a sense of community.

Contact Email: gils@georgetown.edu

Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/georgetown.art.law.association/ ; https://www.linkedin.com/in/georgetown-art-law-association-3a8875125/ ; Instagram: @georgetown.art.law.association ; Twitter: @gulc_art

Georgetown Consulting Club
The purpose of Georgetown Consulting Club is to provide an opportunity for students to enhance the knowledge and skills that will assist them in personal and professional development. In an institution of students with great potential to make a change in the world, it is essential to train these young individuals while at school to be capable of handling the pressures, responsibilities, and risks associated with entrepreneurship and leadership.

Georgetown Criminal Law Association (GCLA)
Georgetown Criminal Law Association does all things Criminal Law. While the organization’s core events are often more networking or career oriented, GCLA bring in guest speakers and help professors host policy focused events throughout the year. GCLA represent students interested in defense, prosecution, prison policy, criminal code reform and more.

Contact Email: Gtown.CLA@gmail.com

Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/GeorgetownCriminalLawAssociation/

Georgetown Law Fintech Society
Georgetown Law FinTech Society aims to foster a community passionate about the intersection between startups, venture capital, and organizations leveraging technology to transform the financial services industry and the law. We represent students interested in financial inclusion, invest-tech, reg-tech, insur-tech, blockchain, crypto-currency, lending, alternative finance, digital banking, and their legal ramifications upon on our world.

Georgetown Law Texas Club
Texas is a vast and growing legal market that is hungry for top legal talent. Including the markets of Houston, Dallas, and Austin, Texas maintains a robust economy, touching on energy, technology, finance, and more. The Georgetown Law Texas Club will provide a resource to Georgetown Law students interested in the practice of law in various Texas legal markets. The club will provide networking opportunities for students to meet each other, as well as for Georgetown students to meet and hear from practitioners from a variety of legal backgrounds within Texas.

Georgetown Law Ventures
Our mission is to help students gain an understanding of the legal and business challenges facing entrepreneurs, learn the venture capital landscape, engage in community projects with start-ups and entrepreneurs, and cooperate with other Georgetown organizations in fulfilling mutual goals.

Health Law Society

Mission: Health Law Society aims to educate Georgetown Law students about opportunities in health law and connect students to practitioners in the field.

Description: Health Law Society (HLS) is a student-led, career-oriented group at Georgetown University Law Center. HLS welcomes all students taking classes at Georgetown Law, including full-time JD, part-time JD, LLM, and graduate level students. HLS members share an interest in law, medicine, science, health care and ethical issues. Throughout the academic year, HLS hosts events to educate students about opportunities in health law and to connect students to practitioners in the field. HLS also coordinates with Georgetown’s other health law-focused initiatives, such as the O’Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law and the Health Justice Alliance.

Contact Email: healthlawsociety@georgetown.edu

Japanese Law Association at Georgetown (JLAG)

Japanese Law Association at Georgetown (JLAG) is a student organization established to contribute the whole diversified society at Georgetown Law. JLAG is the platform to promote Japanese culture, customs, traditions into students’ life and to share the experience of Japan. For the academic purpose, we are to contribute and to develop research on Law of Japan at this school. In addition, we are seeking for cooperating and coordinating with other student organizations at Georgetown Law, not limited to the Asian society that has already established here but open to all the Members who are interested in JLAG, in order to achieve prosperity of the society at this School.

Contact Email: jlag.gulc@gmail.com

Labor & Employment Law Society (LELS)

The Labor and Employment Law Society will contribute to the GULC community in several ways: 1) By providing a service directly to its members, currently not offered by any student organization, through networking and educational opportunities to help them pursue potential careers in labor and employment law; 2) By heightening awareness of labor & employment law issues within the wider GULC community, through the organization and management of one to two events per year in which distinguished practitioners visit campus to speak with members and other students about trends, successes and controversies in the field; and 3) By working to contribute to the off-campus community through service, by identifying and engaging with one or two organizations in the DC area and working with them to accomplish their goals (and in the process bringing increased visibility to GULC within the DC area).

Contact Email: lels@georgetown.edu

Law & International Development Society (LIDS)
The purpose of Georgetown Law and International Development Society shall be to facilitate practical, hands-on opportunities for students to engage with leading development organizations or entrepreneurs through individual projects. As development cuts across a variety of sectors, the projects could explore many issues including the rule of law and governance, food and water security, capacity building, corruption, healthcare and education, women and children’s rights, poverty reduction, disaster preparedness, social entrepreneurship, infrastructure development, and sustainability.

The organization will also foster career development by creating networking opportunities for students to engage with Georgetown University Law Center alumni and other practitioners who are working on development initiatives.

LL.M. Tax Council
The Tax Council for this new year has two main goals. Firstly, we want to increase Taxation LL.M. students’ job prospects by providing opportunities to network with professionals in our field as well as to perfect our interview skills. Secondly, our aim is to provide our fellow students with opportunities to boost their knowledge of current tax issues by setting up academic panels and conferences.

- Sharing our knowledge of Tax Law: Organizing panels, conferences and debates on the “hottest” issues in the field of taxation. As we all know, knowledge means power - as well as greater job prospects. These panels and conferences would provide students with opportunities (i) to heighten their knowledge of specific areas of Tax Law which are of interest to recruiters, (ii) to discover a new field of interest, and (iii) to actively participate in exchanges with fellow students and professionals.

- Becoming proactive Tax practitioners: We are dedicated to helping our fellow LL.M. students develop the necessary skill set to work the job market and to become the best possible tax practitioners they can be. One of the methods through which we intend to do this is by organizing breakfast and cocktail gatherings on the premises of law and accounting firms. We believe these gatherings will allow us not only to have an insight into the work environment in these firms but will also represent a great opportunity for networking.

National Security Law Society (NSLS)
The National Security Law Society exists to foster debate on campus about national security-related topics and to assist students in attaining internships, externships, and post-grad jobs in the national security field. To that end, NSLS hosts career panels, networking events, and brings in speakers to debate and discuss topical events and issues. NSLS also sends out a weekly newsletter containing internship and job opportunities as well as events around DC that might be of interest to members.

Contact Email: nsls.gulc@gmail.com

Other Contact Information: Twitter - @NSLS_GULC

Russian Law and Security Club (RULS)
To broaden understanding of Russian law and security by providing an academic space to study these specific issues. To catalyze a dialogue at Georgetown on Russian specific law and security issues. To foster professional opportunities, (through networking events and informational resources), for group members interested in careers in Russian/U.S. relations.

SJD
The SJD Association aims to improve the academic and social lives of SJD Scholars through: (a) A supportive and collaborative network of scholars; (b) Adopting and furthering the Association’s positions on academic and student life matters; and (c) Engaging with Faculty and Administration to address academic and social issues.

Space Law Society
The purpose of the Space Law Society shall be to become a leader on campus in increasing awareness of space law issues and opportunities for students to get involved in the broader space law community in Washington, DC, nationally, and internationally.

Student Intellectual Property Law Association (SIPLA)
SIPLA Mission Statement: to promote education, networking, and career assistance to Georgetown University Law Center students interested in the various disciplines of intellectual property.

Contact Email: georgetown.sipla@gmail.com

The International Project Finance Society
The purpose of the International Project Finance & Development Society shall be to pursue, including, but not limited to the following activities:

- Promote and foster the comprehensive understanding of the international project finance & development practice;
- Educate about the legal and practical aspects of international project finance & development through different kind of events including for instance, but not limited to, lectures, conferences, breakfast at law firms, competitions similar to moot courts;
- Facilitate the networking among students and between students and international project finance & development lawyers and faculty through formal and/or informal events;
• consolidate and reinforce Georgetown Law’s position as University offering high standards of education in this field.

Women’s Legal Alliance (WLA)
The Georgetown Women’s Legal Alliance (“WLA”) connects all women who are affiliated with the Law Center, welcoming alumnae, students, and professors as equals. We support the women of Georgetown Law by forging stronger and deeper relationships among them, advocating for equality on campus, and working together to empower and advance women as leaders in the legal profession.

Contact Email: wlah@georgetown.edu
Other Contact Information: alliancegulcwomenslegal (Instagram); Women’s Legal Alliance at Georgetown University Law Center (Facebook)

Advocacy & Service Organizations

Advocates Against Sexual Violence (AASV)
AASV combats sexual violence and rape culture through education, advocacy, and systemic reform. The organization is committed to inclusiveness and recognizes that sexual violence is a communal harm. Students in AASV examine the legal and social underpinning of sexual violence and rape culture, shifting and encouraging discourse around gender roles, coercion, and consent in Georgetown University Law Center and the broader law community.

Contact Email: georgetownlawaasv@gmail.com
Other Contact Information: Twitter: @AntitrustA

Alternative Spring Break - Detroit
Recognizing the continuing legal challenges faced by indigent populations of Detroit, Michigan and the surrounding areas, ASB-Detroit shall organize an opportunity for the students of Georgetown University Law Center to serve the most vulnerable of the city. Building upon the well established relationships with various public interest organizations in the city, ASB-Detroit provides a unique service and travel opportunity outside the District of Columbia. We are dedicated to encouraging students to explore beyond their backyard and engaging in public service in communities of demonstrated need.

American Constitution Society (ACS)
The American Constitution Society (ACS) is the nation’s leading progressive legal organization, with over 200 student and lawyer chapters in almost every state and on most law school campuses. Originally formed as the progressive response after the Supreme Court’s Bush v. Gore decision, ACS was founded on the principle that the law should be a force to improve the lives of all people.

Contact Email: georgetownacs@law.georgetown.edu
Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/ACSatGULC/

Disability Justice Law Student Association
Disability Justice Law Student Association aims to provide a space where those interested in disability justice can critically engage and examine disability within the legal community, law and society. With intersectionality as a priority, we seek to advocate for structural, political, and social reforms that acknowledge and respect the aims of disability justice and accessibility within the Georgetown Law community and beyond. Our main focus will be to provide support and create spaces for students with disabilities or students who identify as disabled and are interested in discussion, advocacy, and professional development. All are welcome.

Equal Justice Foundation (EJF)
EJF is a student group dedicated to fundraising to support students engaged in public interest or government work for the summer.

Contact Email: lawejf@georgetown.edu
Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/GtownLawEJF/?ref=bookmarks

Georgetown Defenders (GD)
Georgetown Defenders is committed to growing and sustaining a vibrant community of individuals dedicated to careers in public defense. We offer a variety of programming throughout the year to allow interested students to engage with experienced 2Ls and 3Ls, alumni, and local public defenders.

Contact Email: georgetownndefenders@georgetown.edu
Other Contact Information: Facebook (https://www.facebook.com/gtownndefenders/), website (https://georgetownndefenders.com)

Georgetown Law American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU)
Georgetown Law ACLU is dedicated to fostering a robust discussion of civil rights and civil liberties at GULC. We provide our members with the resources and opportunities to learn about civil liberties, both theoretically and practically. We aim to understand and embrace the opportunities that we have, as young lawyers, to shape and join the fight for liberty in the United States.

Other Contact Information: Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/GtownLawACLU/

Georgetown Law Students for Democratic Reform (GLSDR)
The purpose of the Georgetown Law Students for Democratic Reform shall be to identify, discuss, and promote candidates, legislation, policies, and activism that advance democratic reform. GLSDR is specifically focused on helping students stay involved in the political process, by providing opportunities for students on and near campus that are convenient for law students.

Contact Email: gls4dr@georgetown.edu

Other Contact Information: https://www.facebook.com/GLS4DR/

Georgetown Law Students for Justice in Palestine
Nationally, Students for Justice in Palestine's work is centered on freedom, justice, and equality for the Palestinian people, particularly as it pertains to Israeli occupation. SJP Nationals believes that all struggles for freedom, justice, and equality are interconnected and that we must embody the principles and ideals we envision for a just society.

There are more than 200 chapters at undergraduate and graduate campuses around the country, and Georgetown Law had an active chapter until a few years ago. In an effort to revive Georgetown Law's chapter, we have been engaging in informal conversations with students and active student organizations and have identified a clear need for a Students for Justice in Palestine group to be brought back to our campus. Our peers are interested in learning more about the Israeli occupation and what the current conflict means for Palestinians, Israelis, and all people invested or interested in facilitating conflict resolution, and liberation and justice for all. A Georgetown Law SJP chapter would align well with Georgetown Law's commitment to international human rights, equal justice, and diverse viewpoints.

Contact Email: LSJPalestine@georgetown.edu

Georgetown Youth Advocates (GYA)
Georgetown Youth Advocates is a student organization dedicated to youth advocacy in all of its forms. We promote awareness in the GULC community of issues affecting youth and encourage students to take an active interest in the well-being of young people on a local, national, and international stage. GYA hosts practitioner panels, helps students pursue internships and jobs in youth advocacy, organizes service opportunities, and creates a forum for students to speak about current issues impacting youth.

Contact Email: georgetownyouthadvocates@georgetown.edu

Other Contact Information: "Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Georgetown-Youth-Advocates-2147902162092075/

Home Court
What is Home Court?: Home Court is an annual charity basketball game between Members of Congress and members of the Georgetown Law community that benefits the Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless. The Legal Clinic provides critical legal services to individuals who are homeless or at risk of becoming homeless in the District. Since its founding in 1987, Home Court has become one of Georgetown Law’s most meaningful traditions and provided essential monetary support for the Clinic’s mission.

What students involved with Home Court Do: Home Court is planned and run entirely by students. There are 5 core committees that students can be involved with: Congressional Outreach, Marketing, Business, Special Events, and Game Day. These committees are each in charge of integral tasks to make the game as successful as possible. Tasks include reaching out to Congress members to build a team, creating posters for events, gathering donations for the game’s silent auction, hosting a fall volleyball tournament, and planning half time events. Students on the Home Court team can be as involved as they desire, with tasks for students who have a few hours to spare or a few weeks depending on the student’s availability.

Contact Email: homecourt@georgetown.edu

Other Contact Information: "Facebook: Home Court DC; Instagram: Homecourtdc; Twitter: Homecourtdc; homecourtdc.com"

Human Rights Action / Amnesty International (HRA-AI)

Human Rights Action-Amnesty International (HRA-AI) is a Georgetown Law student group advocating for the protection of human rights, both at home and abroad.

Contact Email: hra-ai@georgetown.edu

If/When/How (IWH)

If/When/How is a national nonprofit that trains, networks, and mobilizes law students and legal professionals to work within and beyond the legal system to champion reproductive justice. We believe that achieving reproductive justice will take thoughtful action and strategic activism: acknowledging the intersection of identities, collaborating across disciplines, and working toward a critical transformation of the current legal system. Because ensuring that all people have the right to decide if/when/how to create families depends entirely on if, when, and how hard we fight.

International Migrants Bill of Rights Initiative (IMBR)

The International Migrant Bill of Rights Initiative was founded at Georgetown University Law Center over ten years ago in 2008 to contribute to a comprehensive, coherent articulation of the legal framework that protects the rights of all international migrants, regardless of the impetus of their migration. Since its founding, the IMBR Initiative has been the base for a growing global network that contributes to important, ongoing debates about the way the world views and treats people who cross borders. The Initiative sought to be accessible yet substantiated by extensive legal research, supported in large part by Georgetown Law students. The initiative’s vision is a world in which the human rights of all international migrants are protected, and focused on a three-pillared approach that centered research, education and advocacy.

In the last decade since the founding of the IMBR Initiative, the text of the Bill of Rights and other tools have been drafted in consultation with migrants and other civil society actors; policymakers at the national, regional and international levels; and students and scholars of migration. The early work of the Initiative was managed as a collaboration between the American University in Cairo, the Global Law Scholars program at GULC, the Migration Studies Unit at the London School of Economics and the Minerva Institute at Hebrew University.

Building on this robust history, the Georgetown IMBR Chapter has coordinated efforts between students, a now external steering committee and contributors at the Inter-American Commission.

International Refugee Assistance Project (IRAP)
The International Refugee Assistance Project (IRAP) is committed to providing quality legal advocacy to refugees and displaced persons and offering Georgetown Law students meaningful opportunities to gain experience in direct services and policy. We are part of IRAP National, a non-profit legal aid and impact litigation organization based in New York City. IRAP also has field offices in Amman, Jordan, and Beirut, Lebanon.

IRAP created a “virtual public interest law firm” comprised of over 1200 law students from 29 law schools in the United States and Canada working under the supervision of pro bono attorneys from over 120 international law firms. IRAP students and attorneys work together to assist thousands of refugees and displaced persons with urgent registration, protection, and resettlement cases.

Students working on IRAP case teams gain experience directing their own cases with their small student teams and pro-bono attorneys, and can expect to engage in firsthand in such tasks as drafting and filing refugee applications with UNHCR, priority applications with USRAP (the U.S. Refugee Admissions Program), asylum applications to European countries and Australia, and SIV (Special Immigrant Visa) applications for Iraqis and Afghans who have assisted U.S. forces.

IRAP also offers a number of other ways to engage in refugee law and policy. IRAP National hosts an annual Policy Day and offers student trips to the IRAP field offices in Jordan and Lebanon and send students to the annual student summit in NYC, an incredible opportunity to network with law students engaged in refugee and immigration work across the country.

The Brady Chapter at Georgetown Law
The Brady Chapter at Georgetown Law will be a local law school chapter of the overall Brady organization. The organization's missions are to (a) support the Brady organization in its fight to end the ongoing gun violence epidemic in the United States, and (b) to bring together Georgetown Law students who are passionate about ending gun violence. While we will use the Brady name, Brady will not have any control over our membership, programming or activities. It is up to us to determine how we want to support the fight against gun violence.

The Federalist Society (Fed Soc)
The Georgetown Law Federalist Society is a group of law students that are interested in the current state of the legal order. We are founded on the three principles that:

- The state exists to preserve freedom;
- The separation of powers is central to our Constitution; and
- It is emphatically the province and duty of the judiciary to say what the law is, not what it should be.

We seek to promote awareness of these principles in the Law Center community and beyond, while creating a learning atmosphere that is open to all viewpoints. Each semester, we organize a wide range of activities—from panels and debates by noted legal scholars, practitioners, judges, and political figures to social and networking events that give our members opportunities for career development.
Our chief goal is to foster balanced and open debate about the fundamental principles of individual freedom, economic liberty, limited government, and the proper role of the judiciary. Membership is open to all—our members hold diverse and often conflicting views on a broad range of issues.

Please note that our goal is to encourage the exchange of ideas on campus. As such, we do not promote particular policies, endorse nominees or candidates, adopt political stances, advocate for political outcomes, or lobby for legislation.

Contact Email: gulcfedsoc@gmail.com

Other Contact Information: All of our events are open to members and non-members. Feel free to show up and introduce yourself. If you have questions, the generic email is the best way to get in touch. Find us on Twitter @GtownFedSoc; On Instagram GtownFedSoc; and on Facebook at facebook.com/GULCFedSoc.

Recreational & Well Being Organizations

Beyond a Reasonable Stout (BARS)
Beyond A Reasonable Stout (BARS) is the only craft beer tasting club at Georgetown Law University Center. We host approximately six free tastings and co-host a variety of other events with various student organizations over the course of the year to students of all years, including evening students and LLMs. BARS was founded to foster a sense of community and an appreciation for the art, science, and fun of craft beer making. Our mission is to provide the following:

● A welcoming and informative space. At BARS events, attendees can familiarize themselves with a selection of craft, local, and independent beers. We provide tasting notes and resources to students so that they may be able to develop a sophisticated and worldly palate. Craft beer has increasingly become a part of the young professional culture, and we believe some degree of knowledge and sophistication is personally and professionally beneficial.
● A relaxed setting. BARS events provide attendees with the opportunity to meet students outside of the classroom, including evening students and LLMs. We are dedicated to making sure that Georgetown Law students maintain a healthy mental wellbeing by socializing with the greater GULC community. Bringing together diverse students is essential to (a) establishing strong interpersonal connections, (b) allowing 1Ls to seek advice and mentorship from upperclassmen in an informal and stress-free environment, and (c) building a stronger Georgetown Law community.

- A safe environment. We are committed to making sure that all attending students (a) are, and feel at all times, safe and within the confines of a familiar on-campus location benefiting from the protective services of the school, (b) are given alcohol in a controlled and responsible environment, and (c) have access to an active community upon which they can rely to ensure and support.

Georgetown Law Softball (Softball)
The purpose of this club is to foster a community and provide a forum for students to play recreational and competitive softball in a comfortable environment. Weather permitting, we practice once weekly at the Randall Recreation Center. We participate in two primary inter-law school tournaments: GW Law “Ball on the Mall” Tournament in the fall, and the UVA Law Softball Invitational in the spring. Participation is voluntary, and members are divided into teams for the tournaments. All levels of experience welcome! Basic equipment (bats and balls) are provided, and captains of the club are willing to provide instruction upon request.

With numbers conducive to sending multiple teams to each tournament, we are able to develop both “social” teams and competitive teams. The competitive teams in recent history have experienced great success. We take pride in the titles of 2016-2017 GW Law “Ball on the Mall” Tournament Champions and 2017-2018 UVA Law Softball Invitational Final Four Finalists (in a pool of approximately 75 teams).

Irrespective of the differing levels of competition, we make it our mission to foster a unified social environment. Beyond providing an opportunity for athletic activity, the Georgetown Law Softball Club is a great way to develop friendships, form mentorship relationships, and connect with fellow members of the Georgetown Law community.

Georgetown Law Tabletop Gaming Club
The purpose of Georgetown Law Tabletop Gaming Club shall be to unite all tabletop gaming enthusiasts in the school and the community across different types of games; to provide interested students a platform to pursue their interests, unwind, and socialize; to introduce newcomers to the amazing and intriguing world of tabletop gaming; to help alleviate the mental stress of law student life and form meaningful connections.

Hoya Lawya Runners
Hoya Lawya Runners provide a forum for runners of all levels to participate in organized and non-organized runs and races. Hoya Lawya Runners also educates members on the benefits and joys of running, as well as proper methods of running as a means of reducing injury and maximizing individual health and wellness. The organization also provides social interaction for individuals who share a mutual interest in running.

Lawcappella
The purpose of Georgetown Lawcappella shall be to form a group of co-ed Georgetown University Law Center students dedicated to arranging, teaching, learning and performing its own versions of popular songs at various public and private functions.

Local Food Alliance (LFA)
Local Food Alliance aims to bring healthy local food to GULC campus. We partner with local entrepreneurs in the fall semester to host a weekly farmers market for students, faculty, and staff.

Contact Email: localfoodalliance@georgetown.edu

Rugby Club
The purpose of The Georgetown Law Rugby Football Club shall be to foster a greater sense of community among the Law Center's student body by encouraging coed participation in rugby. This shall be accomplished by:

1. Teaching the game and culture of rugby, both touch and contact, through regular practices, social events, demonstrations and workshops.
2. Providing a forum for competitive recreation for members of the Georgetown Law community through the establishment of coed and single gender teams to compete both inside and outside the law school community.

Uncorked
Uncorked provides free wine tastings to members of the Law Center community. We host 4 tastings a semester where around 50 students—day and evening JD students and LLMs—can network and learn about wine. We aim to provide a safe and information space to try wine. We also serve food and water to compliment the tasting.

Muslim Law Students Association (MLSA)
The Georgetown Muslim Law Students Association seeks to create a community for Muslims on campus and to foster important spaces and conversations for the Georgetown Law community as a whole. Our events are open to everyone and include spiritually enriching conversations with our chaplain, game nights, lunch talks, and discussions with prominent Muslim lawyers and activists. We host religious and spiritual programs in the Muslim prayer room including Quran classes and theological discussions. Our prayer room, which serves as a solace for many in our community, is located right on the ground floor of Gewirz, and it is always open for reflection and prayer.

As a student organization, we are dedicated to ensuring that pressing socio-political issues such as institutionalized Islamophobia, racism, and anti-Blackness are at the forefront of our organizing. We want to thrust these topics into our campus’ nuanced dialogues, and to that end, we have partnered with the Black Law Students Association, the Asian Pacific Law Students Association, Outlaw, the Latin American Law Students Association, the South Asian Law Students Association, the National Lawyers Guild, the Jewish Law Students Association, and the Office of Equity and Inclusion. As for local partnerships we have worked with the Capitol Area Muslim Bar Association, the National Women’s Law Center, Muslim Advocates, and the Human Rights Campaign. We hope to continue to connect students to important issues, and continue to be a leading affinity group on campus.

Other Organizations

Computer Programming and the Law Society (cpls)
The Legal Programming Society is an organization for students to learn computer programming skills that help operate the technologies they’ll encounter throughout their legal careers. We believe that computer programming has become an indispensable skill for law students and attorneys. As a subject matter, law students will understand programming so as to adapt to the increasingly digital economy. In practice, law students will also adopt programming as a tool, whether it be in determining how to extract data, analyzing cases and remedies from digitized documents, or automating tasks and processing information more efficiently. We will work together to understand the technologies we will encounter in the legal profession. With our gained understanding, we vow to promote the knowledge of coding among lawyers and law students.

Georgetown Green Campus Alliance (GGCA)
Georgetown Green Campus Alliance (GGCA) is dedicated to promoting sustainable, environmentally-friendly initiatives on the Georgetown Law campus. GGCA seeks to educate and mobilize students of Georgetown Law to maximize the presence of usable green space on-campus and create community focused on sustainable and eco-friendly initiatives.

GGCA leads the Georgetown Law Community Garden and is working to pioneer a compost system in conjunction with Market Café and Gewirz. GGCA also organizes and facilitates workshops for students to learn ways to incorporate sustainable practices into their lifestyle including pickling, DIY cosmetics, composting, gardening, and more. Through these initiatives, our hope is to raise awareness through education and advocacy.
