Dear Rising 1Ls,

The Office of the Dean of Students (ODOS) and the entire Georgetown Law community are looking forward to your arrival next month! In this letter, you'll find information from our Office of Student Life on what to expect during Orientation Week, as well as some notes from the Office of Academic Success, the Office of Accessibility Services, and the Office of Residence Life.

Peer Advisors: Peer Advisors are upper-level JD students who serve as mentors to you throughout this summer, Orientation week, and beyond. We have a wonderful group of students who are eager to connect with you. You should receive a welcome email from your Peer Advisor in the next two weeks. If you haven't heard from your advisor by July 31, please let us know by emailing lawstudentlife@georgetown.edu. If you're interested in getting to know our Peer Advisor team, check out the "Meet Your Peer Advisor" website. They are great sources of information about the law school, the 1L year, and life in Washington, D.C.

Planning for Orientation Week

The J.D. Orientation program is intended to introduce you to Georgetown Law, your classmates, the faculty, and the legal profession. Orientation Week includes several mandatory sessions for your section, as well as optional social events, well-being activities, campus tours, and faculty presentations. We will send a finalized schedule to you in early August. For now, Hannah Ward, on behalf of the Office of Student Life, wanted to share these highlights, so that you can start making plans for that week.

Tuesday, August 18, 2026: Optional Events

Faculty Talks

A number of faculty will be giving informal talks on a variety of current legal topics on Tuesday, August 18. These are optional and you can simply drop-in, with attendance limited only by the number of seats in the room. You will not need to pre-register for faculty talks. Topics this year are likely to include current issues in immigration policy, representation of criminal defendants, and legal issues raised by the proliferation of AI.

City Tours

In addition to Faculty Talks, we have scheduled a variety of optional city tours and walks of historic and cultural sites on August 18. Many of these tours and walks won't require any pre-registration, but for a few, space is limited and will require registration. You will receive instructions in our next email on how to sign up. Tours this year are likely to include a Capitol Hill walking tour, a visit to the Frederick Douglass National Historic Site, as well as several others.

Service Projects:

We've scheduled an opportunity to connect with the Georgetown and DC communities through volunteer service. Join our Office of Public Interest and Community Service (OPICS) at the Father McKenna Center to participate in a volunteer service project that helps combat food insecurity and homelessness. Like our City Tours, this opportunity is available on a first-come, first-enrolled basis with advance registration required. We will share registration instructions in our next email.

Wednesday, August 19 - Friday, August 21, 2026: Required and Optional EventsRequired Sessions:

All students will be welcomed by Law Center faculty and deans on Wednesday, August 19, by section. Throughout Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday each section will participate in several additional required programs covering topics essential to your success and thriving this year, including the first meeting of one of your Fall 2026 courses on Friday, August 21, and several sessions led by our career development staff.

Optional Events:

Faculty Moot Court: Always the highlight of the Orientation week, several of our distinguished professors, who collectively have argued and briefed dozens of cases before the U.S. Supreme Court, will present a "moot", essentially a mock argument, of a case that will be heard by the Supreme Court this coming Fall. The faculty moot will take place on the evening of Thursday, August 20 on Georgetown's historic Hilltop Campus, preceded by a welcome from Georgetown's new President, Eduardo Penalver, and Georgetown Law's new Dean, Elizabeth Magill.

Additional fun activities! During the time slots when your section does not have required programs there will be a wide range of optional well-being activities, campus tours, and opportunities to connect with your classmates, upper-level students and student-led organizations. You can attend a group fitness class at our Sport and Fitness Center, informal gatherings of your first year section, a chat with Law Center librarians on a library tour, or spend a moment practicing mindfulness in the relaxation room. We will also host a Student Life Fair, where students will have the opportunity to meet various student organization leaders and Law Center departments that will support them throughout their time at Georgetown.

The various required and optional activities will appear in the finalized Orientation schedule that we'll share in early August, with details on time slots, registration and locations.

Other Important Information:

Meals during Orientation: If you have allergies or dietary restrictions, please fill out this form by July 27 at 5:00 pm EST. If we receive your request by then, we will do our best to accommodate your meal request.

Need Housing for 2026-2027? The Gewirz Student Center is the on-campus apartment community for law students, just steps from all your classes and activities this coming year. The housing application remains open on the Admitted Students website and spaces are assigned when they are available. I'm pleased to report that we still have a few slots available for incoming first years. For more information regarding on- or off-campus housing, please visit: Housing | Georgetown Law.

How to Prepare: One of the most frequent questions we receive over the summer is "What should I do to prepare for law school this summer?" Our wonderful Director of Academic Success, Lisa Curtis, offers this advice: By no means are you expected to do any advance reading or preparation for classes. Lisa will also offer academic success sessions for every section during Orientation week, including specific advice about how to prepare for class in your first weeks of law school.

This is a lot of information, we know! We hope that it is useful to you as you prepare for Orientation week and the start of school.

Meanwhile, please don't hesitate to call or email us at lawdeanofstudents@georgetown.edu or 202-662-9292 with any questions or concerns.

Warm wishes from the ODOS leadership team,

Mitch Bailin, Associate Vice President and Dean of Students

Hannah Ward, Director of Student Life

Lisa Curtis, Director of Academic Success and Deputy Title IX Coordinator

Amanda Lott, Interim Director of Accessibility Services

Chris Hall, Director of Residence Life and Student Programs
